
VACUUM

The international journal and abstracting service for vacuum science and technology and their application in research and industry

Vacuum was founded in January 1951 on the initiative and with the financial support of Edwards High Vacuum Limited, Manor Royal, Crawley, Sussex, England, to advance vacuum technology.

On the occasion of the first International Conference on Vacuum Technique held at Namur, Belgium in 1958 in the interests of furthering the international exchange and dissemination of information on vacuum science and technology, Edwards High Vacuum Limited reached agreement with Pergamon Press Limited for them to take over and sponsor on an international scale the continuance and publication of Vacuum.

Board of Editors

Pergamon Press has arranged for editorial control of Vacuum to be vested in the Board of Editors and Honorary Editorial Advisers, who are internationally recognised authorities in the field of vacuum science and technology. Additional members of both Boards will be appointed from time to time as circumstances demand.
